Andy MacDowel Director

Andy's career started as a residential builder. Looking to refine his skills some 15 years ago Andy began working for one of New Zealand's largest Cabinetry and Shop fitting companies not only working domestically but internationally. 15 years later and now settled with a young family here in Perth, Andy's wealth of knowledge and contacts throughout the industry means every project is achievable no matter how big or small with the focus of the client's needs delivered first time as requested.

Andy's commitment to his clients is shown by meticulously working hard behind the scenes at Elite Commercial developing the team with the Right Skills and Working cultures for the Elite Team to grow and implement new strategies to move in a forward direction with the Commercial Scene this is shown on every fitout with the end product done right first time.

James McKnight Director

James qualified as a Shop fitter in the year 1999 following a 4 year apprenticeship with the uk's largest shop fitting company Thomas Johnstone. Having learned his trade he went on to open his own construction company serving both the private and retail sector for 15 years.

After immigrating to Australia in 2015 with his wife and 2 children, James spent 2 years as a project manager with a large commercial building company before breaking out on his own opening Elite Commercial Fittings. James is a dedicated family man with a diploma in building and construction and endless knowledge in his field.
